Identifying warning signs

The school recognises that individuals will react differently to stressful situations and become stressed by different situations and stimuli throughout their working lives. Because of this, it is important that staff understand the different factors that may cause themselves or their colleagues stress.

The following sources of stress can often be attributed to work:

- Overworking or undertaking work that does not match the employee's skills and abilities
- Fear of change and trying to cope with change, e.g. advancements in technology
- Insufficient workload or not being able to use skills
- Lack of job security
- Poor relationships with colleagues and a lack of involvement
- Harassment or bullying
- Crisis management
- Not having a long-term plan in place

The school recognises that home and personal lives can also prove stressful for staff; bereavement, separation, financial and family problems make people more vulnerable to stress at work. It is common that a combination of stress at home and work can make people particularly stressed.

The school will strive to identify and deal with symptoms of stress quickly in order to maintain a healthy workplace.

The school has a legal requirement to actively respond where any employee displays symptoms of work-related stress.

All members of staff will be aware of the warning signs that can indicate that a person may be having trouble managing stress.

All members of staff will look out for the following indicators when identifying stress in themselves or others:

Behavioural indicators

- Difficulty sleeping
- Changes in eating habits

- Increased smoking or drinking
- Isolation from friends and family

Physical indicators

- Tiredness
- Indigestion and nausea
- Headaches
- Aching muscles
- Heart palpitations

Mental indicators

- Indecisiveness
- Difficulty concentrating
- Memory loss
- Feelings of inadequacy
- Low self-esteem

Emotional indicators

- Anger or irritability
- Anxiety

Actions to support staff

To positively impact levels of stress in the school, the SLT and the governing body will make changes to the whole school.

To help manage stress, the SLT will:

- Lead by example and encourage staff to be open if they feel stressed, to take breaks and to have a full life outside of work.
- Make the most of team bonding; using INSET days to build relationships.
- Assist with work and help to manage employees' workloads.
- Reach out to staff during difficult points in their personal lives, e.g. bereavement, allowing sufficient time off and supporting them when they return to work..

To effectively support staff wellbeing, the headteacher, working with the SLT and well being group will take the following actions:

Measure staff wellbeing by:

- Staff surveys and structured conversations.

- Arranging workshops and drawing together a summary of outcomes from staff surveys and questionnaires.
- Address the wellbeing issues that have been identified.
- Evaluate the impact of any actions taken on a termly basis, measuring staff wellbeing and identifying issues to address.

The headteacher will ensure that all changes proposed as a result of the actions 1.17 are communicated to all members of staff.

A mental health and wellbeing governor will be appointed by the governing body.

A wellbeing group will be created to ensure all staff are supported in their roles and that actions are implemented to mitigate stress in the workplace.

All new members of staff will be provided with a comprehensive induction and their duties will be made clear.

The school has a clear sickness procedure which promotes a positive, caring strategy for staff who are returning to work following sick leave.

The school will ensure wellbeing is promoted and stress is prevented through good management practices, including the following:

- Recruitment and selection procedures
- Clear job descriptions and person specifications to ensure the right candidates are recruited
- CPD procedures to ensure all members of staff have the necessary skills and abilities to undertake the duties required

- Capability and absence management – return to work procedures will ensure that individuals are supported back into work following illness
- Suitable adaptations for disability

- Annual surveys to better understand the areas of work that have a negative effect on staff wellbeing

Self-management

Staff can also make changes to avoid and prevent stress, as it is a problem that should be tackled and not ignored.

Staff should be prepared to speak to their colleagues and senior staff if they are feeling stressed in their personal lives or at work.

Staff are encouraged to take action to manage their own stress, these actions will include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Keeping active as a way of releasing emotional intensity and any negative feelings, exercise will also help to clear thoughts and deal with problems more calmly.
- Managing their workload and establishing and maintaining a healthy balance between work and life,
- Prioritising work, leaving the least important tasks until the end of the day and concentrating on the work that will make the biggest difference.
- Avoiding unhealthy habits, such as drinking and smoking.
- Taking advantage of the wellbeing initiatives and support offered by the school.

Reporting procedures

Lynne Murphy is the school's designated wellbeing lead.

If any member of staff wishes to raise a concern about wellbeing, one of the 2 leads will be notified.

The wellbeing leads will provide the member of staff with information about the support that is available to them; this includes both within the school and outside sources. These resources include:

Occupational Health (South Tyneside Council 0191 4271717)

Schools Advisory Service for staff insurance and with this additional support is available, see link

The wellbeing leads will treat all cases confidentially under the safeguarding protocol, information shared will be treated on a need to know basis, staff will be aware of this situation.

The wellbeing lead in receipt of the complaint will investigate and report this to the headteacher

The headteacher will decide whether any further action will be taken.

Response actions

Where problems with wellbeing arise, the necessary support and appropriate actions will be considered. This may include support from HR advisers and/or external services, e.g. occupational health.

The school will continue to support staff when external services are involved.

Support will be provided to staff who are experiencing challenging circumstances outside of the workplace. The school will direct staff to support, both internal and external, and consider a plan of work and duties that can be managed differently during challenging periods.

Support for staff who are experiencing challenging circumstances within the school will be provided following the procedures outlined in the Grievance Policy.

Staff Workload Charter

1. Rationale

Our aims

Epinay School is committed to considering and supporting the wellbeing of all our staff. As part of this commitment, and through a coordinated effort with school staff and leaders, we aim to ensure workload can be managed and reduced.

We recognise that staff workload can become overwhelming, which in turn affects staff wellbeing and prevents a healthy work-life balance. We believe that we have a collective responsibility to ensure working at the school remains manageable, a positive experience, and, above all, enjoyable.

By providing this support, we hope that we can retain and recruit more staff and meet our core values and ethos for helping and caring for one another.

To protect staff wellbeing, we will:

- Ensure staff have a fair and reasonable workload, including policies on marking, planning and data management.
- Provide high-quality training and CPD opportunities that meet the needs of individual staff members.
- Continue to review staff workload and ensure it always remains manageable.

Our commitments

We have agreed the following commitments and expectations between the governing body, SLT and school staff, to demonstrate our support in helping to manage staff workload.

All staff working at the school can expect:

- To work within a clear code of conduct.
- To receive a robust and high-quality induction by SLT
- To be provided with a Teaching and Learning mentor as part of their induction process
- To be provided with training opportunities relevant to their role and responsibilities.
- To be allocated roles and responsibilities that are linked to their skill set and area of expertise or be provided with appropriate training to upskill and broaden areas of expertise.
- The fair and equal distribution of roles, responsibilities and tasks.
- If required, to collect data using streamlined processes that are beneficial to their work and receive robust training on using the school's data management systems.
- The support of the SLT to provide guidance, advice and simplify school processes where possible.

- A consistent and fair behaviour policy which allows staff to work effectively and be provided with support from the SLT to manage behaviour effectively.
- The use of technology to ensure effective and efficient communication, document and data management, and access to information.
- To be provided with access to external support, such as occupational health or confidential advice from Clennells Safeguarding Services.
- To work within an environment where their wellbeing is prioritised and valued.
- All changes to school processes to be communicated clearly and the SLT to provide support with implementation.

In addition to the above, teaching staff at the school can expect:

- A clear curriculum planning scheme that provides flexibility, is fully resourced with high-quality materials and is planned over well-defined blocks of time.
- An agreed policy that ensures all marking undertaken is purposeful and focuses on quality feedback and the impact on pupil outcomes.
- A quality assurance system that is meaningful and focuses on positive support

The headteacher and the SLT commit to the following:

- Conducting regular activities, e.g. staff surveys and interviews with staff members, to identify the areas of work that lead to high levels of workload and implementing approaches to reduce this.
- Providing staff with termly opportunities to discuss areas they feel are creating high levels of workload and how this could be managed.
- Implementing practices that allow for meaningful and useful communications to reduce workload.
- Supporting Unqualified teachers, NQTs and teachers in the early stages of their careers to adopt efficient work practices and keeping this support under regular review.
- Encouraging a workplace culture that promotes a healthy work-life balance.
- Making every effort to reduce the number of meetings, ensuring that those that take place are planned effectively, with flexibility and a key focus.
- Providing staff with relevant training or CPD opportunities in school, including on recognising the early signs of stress.
- Ensuring staff are clear about the purpose of marking and ensuring it is meaningful, and that they understand feedback can be given in many forms.
- Ensuring the school's workload reduction initiative is included within the SDP and that enough resources are dedicated towards achieving this aim.
- Monitoring staff absence levels, patterns and reasons, and using return to work meetings consistently and effectively.
- Regular QA of work practices, including teaching and learning, curriculum and enrichment planning, communications, marking and feedback, and data collection, and adapting these where necessary.

- Considering the impact of any potential changes to the school's practices before they are implemented and creating a clear implementation plan before changes are agreed.
- Communicating changes to the school's practices to all staff and the whole school community, to ensure everyone understands the reasons behind the changes.

The governing body commits to the following:

- Ensuring the school's ethos reflects its commitments to reducing workload and creating a working environment that is focussed, purposeful and considers individuals' wellbeing through the successful management of workload.
- Ensuring it receives regular updates regarding absence levels that are broken down into the cause of absence and role of staff.
- Making every effort to ensure committee meetings that school staff are expected to attend are purposeful, focussed and structured, and relevant to the school development priorities.
- Considering the nature of information requests and being clear about the information needed from the SLT and school staff.
- Providing staff with advance notifications of all monitoring visits and informing them of what the focus will be and what information is required.
- Working within any policy agreements, including those relating to using technology to reduce workload.
- Developing the role of the mental health and wellbeing governor to support the mental health and wellbeing of both staff and pupils.
- Regularly seeking views from staff on the impact of workload and working with the headteacher and SLT to improve any identified issues.
