

Pay Protection Policy

1 Policy Statement

As part of the Governing Board's commitment to assist employees when their pay has reduced, a transitional pay protection arrangement shall operate in certain situations. This Policy details the arrangements around pay protection. It includes the circumstances in which it is available and the levels of protection. Protection arrangements will be applied fairly and consistently.

2 Policy Scope and Application

The pay protection arrangements detailed in this policy apply to all support staff in school. It should be noted that some schools may have their own arrangements. Protection for teaching staff will be as detailed in the School Teachers' Pay and Conditions Document. Protection arrangements could also apply to agency staff in certain circumstances, once the 12 week qualifying period has been reached.

Full details of how the policy works along with any exceptions are detailed below. In summary the scheme allows:-

- pay protection for a period of 12 months. The first 6 months paid at 100% of the agreed amount and the remaining 6 months paid at 50% of the agreed amount.
- pay protection for reductions in band, contracted hours worked, and in the number of working weeks contracted for. Whichever protection is greater will apply, not all three, for example if an employee accepts a job with both a reduction in hours and a reduction in the band, their salary will be protected by the greater amount. Any protection applied cannot result in the employee receiving more than their original salary.

3 When Protection Applies

Pay will only be protected in the following circumstances:

- an employee is subject to a restructure and is not successful in obtaining a post at their current band, but accepts a post within the new structure at a lower band;
- an employee is subject to a restructure and is not successful in obtaining a post on their current hours or working weeks, but accepts a post with reduced hours/working weeks within the new structure;
- as a result of redeployment, an employee accepts a post at a lower band, and/or with reduced hours, or with a reduced number of working weeks. This could be due to redundancy, ill health or the end of a long term fixed term contract ;
- the introduction of a revised pay and grading system.

It does not apply when:

- an employee who is not at risk asks to work in a post which is paid on a lower band e.g. an employee no longer wishes to work in a senior role
- an employee moves to a lower graded post as a result of performance issues/disciplinary hearing outcome
- an employee returns to a lower graded post following a period of acting up/honoraria payments
- a market forces supplement has been applied for an agreed period and ends or is removed
- an employee applies for flexible retirement, job share, v-time or a permanent change to their working arrangements
- an employee is subject to a restructure and is successful in obtaining a post at their current band but at a lower spinal column point

4 How pay protection operates for reductions in bands

4.1 Amount of pay protection

4.1.1 The pay and grading structure consists of 9 bands and 2 senior management bands (SM1 and SM2). The bands vary in length, with band 6 containing the most spinal column points (scp). The third scp for each band is used as a fixed salary point, except for band 6 - where 3 points in the band are used (scp 28, 31 and 34). Employees on career grades will also start on the third scp and progression depends on competence or qualification.

The amount payable as protection will be the difference between the employee's substantive scp and the third point of the band immediately below their band. This will apply even if an employee has decreased by more than one pay band.

Old Band	New Band	Protection – payable 6 months at 100% followed by 6 months at 50% protection.
8 (scp 43)	7 (scp 37)	Difference between scp 43 and scp 37 divided by 12
9 (scp 48)	6 (scp 28)	Difference between scp 48 and scp 43 divided by 12 / 2

Employees in bands 6 and 7 shall have additional arrangements as detailed below, due to the larger span of these bands. Basic pay will be paid at the scp applicable to the new role and protection will be paid as an additional amount.

Where an individual is redeployed into a career graded post, their new band will be dependent upon their qualifications and experience, in line with the requirements of the career grade. Advice should be sought from the HR Service to decide if pay protection arrangements will apply.

Employees on pay protection will not be eligible for any pay increases (e.g. cost of living pay award) to their protected rate of pay.

Following an increase to the new scp the amount of protection payable will be recalculated taking into account the new rate of pay for their new role and their original rate of pay from their previous role. The re-calculation will be the difference between their new scp and their original scp. E.g. an employee is receiving pay protection of £100 per month. Their new basic rate of pay increases by £20 per month therefore their protection amount is reduced by £20 per month to £80.

4.1.2 Only basic pay will be protected. Other allowances, all inclusive grades, overtime (both contractual and non-contractual), differences in terms and conditions etc are not included. Allowances and rates will be paid at the new basic scp.

4.1.3 Protection arrangements for bands 6 and 7 are detailed below:

When employees are redeployed into a post in band 6 they will be placed on the appropriate salary for the post, as determined by job evaluation. They will not be protected at the top of the band.

- Band 7 to Band 6 – the maximum protection that will be offered is to scp 31. If an employee is redeployed into a post graded scp 28, they will be protected on the difference between scp 31 and their original scp in band 7. At the end of the protection period their salary will be on scp 28.

- Band 6 to Band 5 – the maximum protection that will be offered to an employee in band 6 on scp 34 or scp 31 who moves to band 5, is to scp 28. At the end of the protection period their salary will be on scp 22.

4.1.4 The amount of protection will be reduced if an employee voluntarily decides to work less hours. If an employee voluntarily increases their hours over and above their original hours in their previous role, protection will not be increased.

4.2 Duration

The pay protection period will be for 12 months. The first 6 months is paid at 100% of the agreed amount, and the remaining 6 months at 50%.

If an employee on pay protection gets an increase in basic pay, such as an honorarium, the 12 months shall continue to run, and will stop at the previously agreed time. However, the protection payment will be suspended, or reduced, to take into account the amount of the honorarium.

Where an acting up (or other similar) arrangement ends within the 12 month period, only the remaining part of the 12 month protection shall be paid.

When the acting up arrangement goes beyond this 12 month period, the employee shall return to the new scp without any further protection, when it comes to an end.

For example:

- An employee paid at band 8 is redeployed to a band 7 post. Two months after commencing the band 7 role the employee is offered a temporary role at band 8 for six months. At the end of the temporary role the employee would be 8 months into their pay protection period and would only be entitled to the remaining 4 months at 50% of the protected amount.

or

- An employee paid at band 5 is redeployed to a band 3 post. The individual would get pay protection from their scp in band 5 to the third scp in band 4 (scp 16) and their basic pay would reduce to scp 12 in band 3. If the individual accepts a temporary role at band 4 then protection would continue. If a temporary role is accepted at band 5, then pay protection would be suspended and would only re-start if the temporary role ended within the original 12 month protection period.

4.3 Band of post

For the purposes of determining the band/scp of the post an employee is moving from, only the basic pay band for the post will be relevant. This means that no other salary protection arrangements, honorarium payments, allowances, all inclusive grades, bonus payments, overtime or other such terms and conditions will count.

Head Teachers/managers can ask those employees receiving pay protection to carry out appropriate additional duties in line with the total remuneration being paid. Once an employee's pay protection period ends, Head Teachers/managers should ensure that they are carrying out tasks appropriate to their rate of pay.

4.4 When pay protection stops

Pay protection arrangements will come to an end if an employee voluntarily leaves the post, obtains a higher graded post, or on the expiry of the 12 months protection period whichever is sooner.

5 How pay protection operates for reductions in hours

Reductions in contracted hours will be protected up to a maximum of 20% of an employee's hours. This means that if an employee's hours are reduced by more than 20%, only 20% will be protected.

The amount payable as protection will be based on the difference in hours from the original post up to the maximum stated above. The protection period will be for 12 months. The first 6 months is paid at 100% of the agreed amount, and the remaining 6 months at 50%.

Example 1

Hours of Old Post	Band 4 (37 hours per week)	Salary £18,319
Hours of New Post	Band 4 (25 hours per week)	Salary £12,377.70
Max of Protection	20% of £18,319 = 3663.80pa = 305.32pm
First 6 months protection		£305.32 per month
Final 6 months protection		£152.66 per month

Example 2

Hours of Old Post	Band 4 (32 hours per week)	Salary £15,843.46
Hours of New Post	Band 4 (28 hours per week)	Salary £13,863.03

Max of Protection	20% of 32 hours = 6.4 hours. Employee hours have reduced by 4 so 4 hours protection applies
First 6 months protection		£165.04 per month
Final 6 months protection		£82.52 per month

 4 hours x 52.143 (weeks in a year) = 208.57 hours lost per year

208.57 x £9.49522 (Band 4 hourly rate) = £1980.42 salary lost per year (£165.04 pm)

Pay protection arrangements will come to an end if an employee voluntarily leaves the post, obtains a higher graded post, receives increased contractual hours, or on the expiry of the 12 months protection period whichever is sooner.

6 How pay protection operates for reductions in working weeks

Reductions in the number of weeks worked in a year will be protected up to a maximum of 10. This means that if someone's working weeks are reduced by more than 10, only 10 will be protected.

The amount payable as protection will be based on the number of weeks that have been reduced. The protection period will be for 12 months. The first 6 months is paid at 100% of the agreed amount, and the remaining 6 months at 50%.

Example

Old Post	Band 4 (37 hours per week/52 weeks pa)	Salary £18,319
New Post	Band 4 (37 hours per week/40 weeks pa)
Max of Protection	10 weeks x £351.32 (weeks' pay) = £3513.20.
First 6 months protection	£3513.20 / 12	£292.77 per month
Final 6 months protection	£3513.20 / 12 / 2	£146.38 per month

Pay protection arrangements will come to an end if an employee voluntarily leaves the post, obtains a higher graded post, receives increased contractual hours, or on the expiry of the 12 months protection period whichever is sooner.

7 Effect on Pension

All benefits accrued in the LGPS for membership after 31 March 2014 are calculated under the rules of the Career Average Revalued Earnings (CARE) Scheme. If your pay is reduced in the CARE

Scheme then the pension you earn will be reduced as CARE benefits are calculated on your actual pensionable pay each Scheme year (April to March).

Any benefits you have accrued in the LGPS before 1 April 2014 are calculated under the Final Salary Scheme. These benefits are based on your membership and final pay. Your final pay is normally the pay in respect of your final year of scheme membership on which you paid contributions, or one of the previous 2 years if this is higher. In addition if your pay is reduced, or increases to your pay are restricted in your last 10 years of continuous employment, your benefits can be based on the average of any 3 consecutive years' pay in the last 13 years (ending on a 31 March) if this produces a higher final pay figure.

For further information please contact the Pensions Service on 0191 4244141 or visit the websites Tyne & Wear Pensions Fund LGPS member site

Employees are also able to register to view their own pension details on Pension Fund's on line service mypension
